1.	Institution may provide soft skill-training through college's placement cell and can help students to develop their communication skills and interpersonal skills through it.	Soft skill training was given to the students in their placement classes and interesting activities were given to them to upgrade their communication and interpersonal skills.
2.	Institution may conduct workshops based on the importance of team work for students, so that they can club and unite with team members in their workplace.	An induction program, which was also a kind of Workshop, was conducted by a separate team to our students where students underwent various activities that helped them to mingle and collaborate with other students.
3.	Institution may provide workshops or class activities through placement cell that help students to achieve team spirit and to know about the importance of leadership.	As suggested, various activities through workshop were held by an organization 'Leaders Desk' through which students gained practical knowledge on team spirit and also came to know about the qualities of a leader.
